

DEREK ROBBINS

My chosen path is the Warwick Road (A41) which extends from Warwick to the edge of Birmingham, where it meets the Stratford Road. For this project however I chose the section between the junction of Warwick Road and Lincoln Road, which then proceeds through Acocks Green, Tyseley and Greet until the junction with Golden Hillock Road.

The first section basically covers the road through Acocks Green. It starts off primarily with terraced dwelling houses then passes two larger shops, Aldi and Farmfoods, and continues past rows of largely independent shops on both sides of the road. The town is multicultural and the shops echo this.

The road then narrows as it approaches the 'Green' before veering off to the right heading towards Tyseley.
